

Agostina's Master Class "The Dress of Your Soul"

2 to 9 June 2013
green innovation factory
Rovereto TN - Italy

Sustainability in Modern Felt Fashion

Sustainability is what you live and not what you make.
It's a philosophy and not a style.
Your personal handwriting and not the stamp of others.

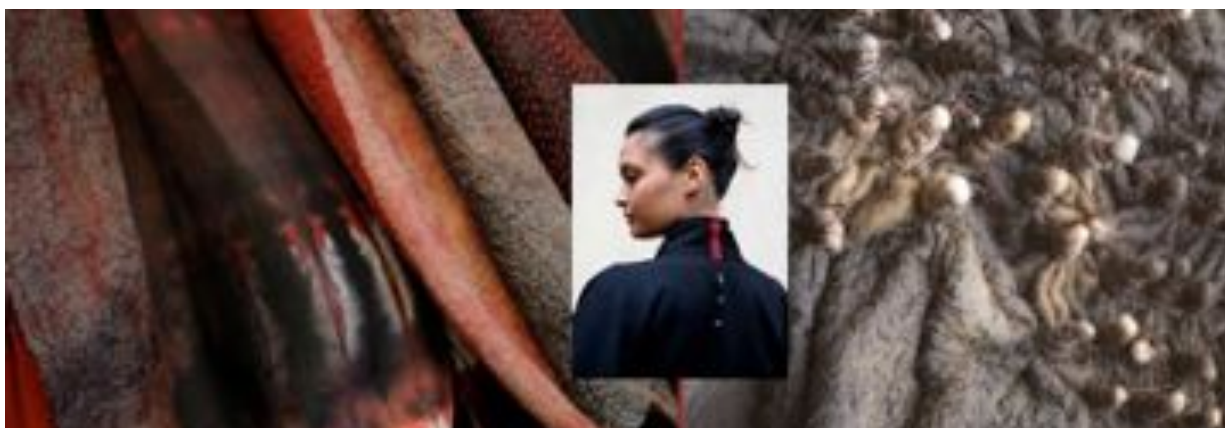

This Master Class is an opportunity to understand and practice the principles of today's felt fashion design with full respect for sustainability. It will be an intensive week of working together. Part of it will be dedicated to experiment printing, colors, shapes and techniques.

You will work under my personal direction in a small group, which will stir up precious synergistic effects. And your individual project will receive the deserved attention.

Sustainability in Modern Felt Fashion is a Master Class that is open to experienced feltmakers only.

The class-lab where students spend eight days recreates the atmosphere of an atelier-greenhouse in which the connection between cultural contents and real application will be the source of creative outputs.

This connection is the essence for each student to base the construction of their own professional aptitude within different creative fields (fashion, research, styling, colour, communication).
